

EAYE

UNIVERSITÄT
LEIPZIG

Call for Papers

1st European Association of Young Economists Workshop on Housing and Macroeconomics

September 10-11, 2018

Leipzig University, Germany

The European Association of Young Economists (EAYE), in collaboration with Leipzig University, is pleased to announce that the 1st EAYE Workshop will take place at Leipzig University on September 10-11, 2018. The 1st EAYE Workshop marks the beginning of an ongoing series of in-depth workshops on a specific topic within economics, organized by young economists for young economists.

Since the Great Recession, research on housing and macroeconomics has become a highly relevant and vibrant research field within macroeconomics. What drives house-price fluctuations? How do pronounced fluctuations in house prices and housing credit affect the real economy? What explains the long run dynamics of house prices? What are the macroeconomic consequences of regulations in the housing market and in housing finance? The aim of the workshop is to bring together young economists, as well as a few distinguished senior researchers, that work on these pressing questions and on housing and macroeconomics in general.

We welcome theoretical, quantitative, and empirical papers or extended abstracts from non-tenured economists below the age of 35. Submissions should be made in PDF format by June 7th, 2018 to eaye-workshop@uni-leipzig.de. Authors will be notified by mid-June. There is no participation fee, but participants will have to cover their expenses for travel and accommodation.

Besides presentations by young economists, we further invite distinguished senior researchers to give keynote lectures and to participate in the discussions and social activities. We are delighted to announce that two keynote lectures will be given by Alberto Martín (CREI, Universitat Pompeu Fabra, Barcelona GSE, CEPR) and Moritz Schularick (University of Bonn, CEPR). We are furthermore very grateful that participation in the workshop has been confirmed by Thomas Steger (Leipzig University, IWH, CESifo).

Please find more information on eaye.weebly.com/eaye-workshop. Questions can be directed to eaye-workshop@uni-leipzig.de.

Organizing committee: Konstantin Gantert (Leipzig University), Thomas Krause (IWH – Halle Institute of Economic Research), Benjamin Larin (Leipzig University), and Hans Torben Loefflad (Leipzig University).

The European Association of Young Economists is an association by young economists for young economists. The aim of the association is to facilitate the interaction between young non-tenured researchers in economics working on topics within economics.